CHRISTMAS STORY!

It was a cold, snowy day in December, a couple of days before Christmas. School had just closed and as I was walking in the center of our bright city full of decorations, admiring my surroundings, full of excited people shopping, drinking coffee or just going for a walk to get that magical Christmas feeling. There was generally a happy and positive atmosphere around me and that reminded me why Christmas is by far the best holiday. It's the small things like this, which bring happiness. It felt like a reward after a few very tiring months. Life is good!!!

A Christmas miracle

Eyfrosyni-Thomai T. Γ4

Once upon a time, there was a kid named Tim. He lived in a very crowded city, New York. He had a ton of toys and a big house since his parents were very rich. They had a famous company and they were very good people but they did not spend a lot of quality time with their son. Tim grew up with nannies and battlers but not with any friends as all the other kids were either intimidated by him or thought that he was spoiled, while that was not the case. He was a really shy and kind kid and the only thing he wanted was a true friend.

Well, one Christmas he was alone again as his parents were away on business, he felt really bored and made up his mind that the only way to find friends was to hide his identity. So he succeeded to sneak out. He was out in the real world, all alone, just going from one street to another. Finally, he found a park in order to rest, he sat at a bench and suddenly got scared as he realized he didn't know his way back home. After a few minutes, a poor boy at his age approached him. He asked him if he wanted company and they talked for a bit. Tim was very happy and continued to talk with him for a lot of hours. Suddenly, he heard sirens and also saw his parents' car,. They had gone back home ,hadn't found him and got worried. Tim refused to leave without his new friend and his parents agreed to adopt and raise him as he was an orphan lying in the street. So, Tim and his friend grew up together and always had one another.
